The performance data quoted herein represents past performance. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth less than their original cost, and current performance may be lower than the performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 1.866.947.7000.

Shares are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the Fund. The Fund's performance at market price may differ from its results at NAV. The Market Price return is the midpoint between the highest bid and the lowest offer on the exchange on which the shares of the Fund are listed for trading at 4:00 PM ET when NAV is determined. If you trade your shares at another time, your return may differ. Returns are historical and are calculated by determining the percentage change in NAV or market price (as applicable) with all distributions, if any, reinvested at NAV or closing market price (as applicable) on the payment date of the distribution, and are net of management fees and other expenses. Performance less than one year is cumulative. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.

Investment performance reflects fee waivers in effect. In the absence of such fee waivers, total return would be reduced.

Causeway Capital Management LLC serves as investment adviser for the Causeway International Value NextShares. The Fund is distributed by SEI Investments Distribution Co., which is not affiliated with Causeway Capital Management LLC.

About NextShares: As a new type of actively managed fund that differs from mutual funds and exchange-traded funds, NextShares funds have a limited operating history and may initially be available through a limited number of brokers. There can be no guarantee that an active trading market for shares will develop or be maintained, or their listing will continue or remain unchanged. Trading prices of shares may be above, at or below net asset value per share ("NAV"), and may vary significantly from anticipated levels. Buyers and sellers of shares will not know the value of their purchases and sales until the fund's NAV is determined at the end of the trading day. Trading prices of shares are linked to the fund's next-computed NAV and will vary from NAV by a market determined premium or discount, which may be zero. Trading in shares does not offer the opportunity to transact intraday based on current (versus end-of-day) determinations of the share value. Although limit orders can be used to control differences in trade price versus NAV (cost of trade execution), they cannot be used to control or limit execution price.

Shares of NextShares funds are normally bought and sold in the secondary market through a broker, and may not be individually purchased or redeemed from the fund. In the secondary market, buyers and sellers transact with each other, rather than with the fund. NextShares funds issue and redeem shares only in specified creation unit quantities in transactions by or through Authorized Participants. In such transactions, a fund issues and redeems shares in exchange for a basket of securities, other instruments and/or cash that the fund specifies each business day. By transacting in kind, a NextShares fund can lower its trading costs and enhance fund tax efficiency by avoiding forced sales of securities to meet redemptions. Redemptions may be effected partially or entirely in cash. A fund's basket is not intended to be representative of the fund's current portfolio positions and likely will diverge, and may diverge significantly, from current positions. Buying and selling shares will require payment of brokerage commissions and expose transacting shareholders to other trading costs. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns. Frequent trading may detract from realized investment returns. The return on a shareholder's investment will be reduced if the shareholder sells shares at a greater discount or narrower premium to NAV than he or she acquired the shares.

The MSCI EAFE Index (Europe, Australasia, Far East) is a free float-adjusted market capitalization index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of developed markets, excluding the US and Canada. The Index is gross of withholding taxes, assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, and assumes no management, custody, transaction or other expenses. The Fund's value discipline may prevent or restrict investment in major stocks in the benchmark index. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

Fund investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. In addition to the normal risks associated with equity investing, international investing may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuations in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles, or from economic or political instability in other nations. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors, as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. Investments in smaller companies involve additional risks and typically exhibit higher volatility. There can be no assurance that a Fund will achieve its stated objective. Current and future holdings are subject to risk. Diversification does not ensure a profit or guarantee against a loss. A company may reduce or eliminate its dividend, causing losses to the fund. There is no guarantee that securities mentioned will remain in or out of the Fund.
